Progression Rules

- Students will start with either PSYC5001 or PSYC5002 and will complete both PSYC5001 and PSYC5002 before continuing to PSYC5003.
- The introductory courses (PSYC5001, PSYC5002 and PSYC5003) have to be completed before proceeding to the advanced units.
- The advanced courses can be completed in any order that suits student's individual pattern of study.
- It is highly recommended to complete PSYC5010 as the final course.
- Students who have completed courses equivalent to PSYC5001 and PSYC5002 as a part of prior degree within 10 years prior to program commencement may apply for Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) in the online application. Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) is also known as 'credit transfer' or 'advanced standing'.
- Maximum enrolment in one course per GD Psych session.
- Maximum time to complete the program is 5 years.
- Depending on when students start the program and the course offerings for the year, the School will manage students' enrolment by following the program progression plan as described below.
- The progression plans are based on the assumption of full enrolment in all available sessions without any credit transfer.
- Any variation to the program progression plan should be made in consultation with, and approved by the School of Psychology.
